This deliverable describes a fast prototype of an open-API cloud-based web-services platform to deliver the iDEM services and Text-simplification App. The iDEM platform will be applicable to a range of different audiences, languages, and domains, and will be implemented as a free open source library for easy integration into Internet-based deliberative and participatory democratic spaces. The project will have two formal operational baseline releases, one in March 2025 and one in June 2026.

This document describes a quick prototype of a cloud-based web-services platform with an open-API. It is used to provide the iDEM services and an app that makes text easier to read. The iDEM platform will apply to different groups, languages, and areas. It will be a free open source library that can be easily integrated into democratic spaces on the internet. These spaces allow people to participate and discuss. The project will have 2 formal operational baseline releases, one in March 2025 and one in June 2026.
